Wedding dress, 1958
Scaasi

DESIGNER*VWIDON by Carla Hwang & Kenneth Park

When looking at the dress by Scaasi, what catches our eyes is a simple but beautifully crafted pulled-up detail at back. This detail not only shapes a whimsical volume but also successfully lightens up the material of the dress.

Inspired by the work of Scaasi, we decided to use a sheer material to create a lighter, more playful wedding dress. By layering multiple sheer fabrics in slightly varied hues, from white to beige, we wanted to create unique visual effect in which ruffles and pull-ups almost instantly form a knee length dress. Our design is about directness of a young bride in expressing her beauty and vitality.
